Cont...

All of the above is happening in many dioceses. We cannot remain silent. We must call to mind the responsibility we took on when we were confirmed. We must have a "spiritual warrior" mentality. We must love our Catholic faith enough to engage in the fight and call out such things when necessary.

We must love enough to do battle inside the Church. This is exactly what we were baptized and confirmed for.

In Christ,
 Fr. Jeff Fasching

Marginal Catholics?

It is simply not good enough to go to Mass regularly and believe all that Holy Mother Church teaches. As confirmed Catholics and soldiers for Christ, we must be always ready to engage in battle. We cannot afford to live cowardly lives afraid of confrontation.

For example, a strong argument can be made that over the last several decades leaders in the Church have succeeded in many ways in protestantizing the Church. The outward result has been that huge numbers of the faithful are falling away from the faith.

We simply cannot tolerate support for priests such as James Martin, who is openly homosexual and publicly supports the homosexual agenda. He must be denounced at every turn and yet to this day we still do not see this happening. We cannot remain silent when many leaders in the Church support the sacrilege of giving Holy Communion to so called Catholics who are pro-choice and support the murder of innocent children. We cannot have religion teachers who do not fully embrace the Catholic faith. We cannot support "Catholic" hospitals who distribute contraception.
